Dear Parishioners,

A Prayer at the end of the day

O Lord of life, as the busy sounds of the day die away, I bring you my thanks. Thank you for all that I have experienced this day; for new things I have learned; for the friendship of those about me; for so many blessings too countless to name. And for your continued support, I praise you.

At no time of the day have I been called upon to stand in my own strength. But I do admit that I have allowed some things in to this day for which I am now sorry. There have been moments when I've been more eager to get, and reluctant to give. There have been moments when my motives have become a little mixed, though not all have noticed. Some words that I have spoken might have been better unsaid, unheard; forgive me for anything that has marred this day.

Hold in your keeping this night, all those who are dear to me, and let me lie down in your peace. Bless those who cannot sleep tonight – and those who may not – those sitting up with the sick; those working on night-shifts; drivers on the road; pilots in the air; all at sea. Grant to each a deeper sense of your nearness. We ask this through Christ our Lord.

Two frogs fell into a deep cream bowl,
One was an optimistic soul;
But the other took the gloomy view,
"I shall drown," he cried, "and so will you".
So with a last despairing cry,
He closed his eyes and said, "Good-bye".

But the other frog, with a merry grin
Said, "I can't get out, but I won't give in!
I'll swim around till my strength is spent.
For having tried, I'll die content".

Bravely he swam until it would seem
His struggles began to churn the cream.
On top of the butter at last he stopped
And out of the bowl he merrily hopped.

What is the moral? It's easily found.
If you can't get out – keep swimming around.

With very blessing,
Colm Curry PP
